GREENE AGAIN PRODS PATRIOTS

Separation of Powers From $6,000 Job Brings Commissioner Lot More Bad Friends—Greene Asks Money For Roads But Not For Canals.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, Dec. 29.—In abolishing the $6,000 job of special examiner and appraiser in the bureau of canals, held by Robert J. Powers, secretary of the Democratic State Committee, Col. Frederick Stuart Greene, superintendent of public works, has stirred up something like a political hornet's nest, according to reports at the capital today.

Democratic leaders, mostly from up-state, who have never been friendly politically with Col. Greene, are deeply aroused over the treatment of Mr. Powers.

Another thing that does not sit well with the Democrats, judging from what one hears around the capital these days, is the fact that it will cost the state a million dollars more to run the consolidated department of public works under Col. Greene than it did the three old departments—public works, public buildings and highways—combined under a law enacted by the last Legislature.

It was generally believed that the consolidation would bring about a good saving for the state. In fact, that point was stressed by Governor Smith last year when he urged the Legislature to pass the bill providing for the consolidation.

It also has developed that under the requests for appropriations submitted to the budget committee by Col. Greene, he has not asked for one cent for large canal construction or dredging of the canals. On the other hand he did ask for an appropriation of $2,500,000 for new roads.

Persons who have been charging that Col. Greene is antagonistic to the large canal now are pointing to this fact as evidence of their claims. They are asking why Col. Greene neglected the canal in asking for appropriations, if he wanted to see it progress, as he had claimed.

Claim also is being advanced that Col. Greene did not have the right under Chapter 443 of the laws of 1915 to abolish the post held by Mr. Powers, until charges had been made and time given for a hearing. The law enacted last year, and providing for the consolidation, also provides that the superintendent could not abolish the post of deputy superintendent or that of the head of any bureau. Friends of Powers claim he was head of the bureau of special examiners and appraisers.

BARONESS WOULDN'T SIT WITH GERMAN ENVOY

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Dec. 29.—War memories are not entirely dead, even in these piping days of partial peace.

Tongues are wagging in diplomatic circles here today over an incident in connection with the recent diplomatic dinner at the White House which was attended by the entire diplomatic corps—the ambassadors and ministers of some 42 countries.

On all such occasions it is customary for the White House staff to arrange the seating of guests, according to rank and position, and each diplomat escorts the wife of one of his colleagues to the state dining room.

On this occasion, Dr. Otto Von Weddel, the German ambassador, was assigned with the Baroness De Cartier De Marchienne, wife of the Belgian ambassador. The baroness is an American, the former Mrs. Hamilton Wilkes Cary of New York. She objected so strenuously to the seating arrangement that flustered White House attaches were forced to make a re-assignment and instead of the Baroness, the German ambassador escorted in Mme. Hanthara, wife of the Japanese ambassador.

The incident has created a sensation in diplomatic circles of the capital. In normal times, according to the dowagers, this might have been magnified into an international incident, but outside of providing a choice morsel of tea table conversation around the embassies and legations, it seemed today that nothing would come of it.

Jap Billiardist Leads.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Dec. 29.—With a lead of 800 to 398, Tadao Suganuma, of Japan, will enter the final 400 ball tournament of his match with Jean Bruno, of Austria, virtually assured of retaining his title of National Junior 18.2 ball and billiard champion.

The Rev. Dr. Strong Ill.

The Rev. Arthur S. Cole, pastor of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, received a telegram early this morning informing him that the Rev. Philip B. Strong is seriously ill at his home in Ridgewood, N. J. Dr. Strong was formerly pastor of the Albany Avenue Church.

Alumni Dance Tonight.

The mid-year reunion and dance of the Kingston High School Alumni Association will be held this evening at the high school gymnasium. There will be dancing from 8 until 11:45. Good music and refreshments.

Venezolas Sails.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Marseilles, France, Dec. 29.—Former Premier Eleutherios Venezolas, of Greece, sailed for Athens today on the steamship Andros to form a new cabinet.

HUERTA SENDS MISSION HERE

Will Try and Make Friends at Washington For Mexican Rebels—Rebels Report Federal Defeat.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Vera Cruz, Dec. 29.—A revolutionary committee, appointed by Adolfo De La Huerta, leader of the Mexican revolt, is enroute to Washington to present the cause of the rebels. It was said today.

The commission, headed by Juan Lopez, sailed yesterday for New Orleans on the steamship Nicaragua and will proceed to Washington immediately upon arrival at New Orleans.

Revolutionary headquarters here announced two important victories over the federalists and declared that General Guadalupe Sanchez, rebel generalissimo, so encouraged over the situation that he has ordered an immediate offensive on the Esperanza and Oriental fronts.

Oregon forces suffered defeat in an attempt to recapture Puebla according to revolutionary headquarters. General Alor commanded the Huerta forces.

Capture of a provision train at Laguna, a small town between San Luis Potosi and Saltillo is also claimed by the rebels who say officials of the train and the federal guard were also taken prisoner.

General Sanchez has issued a proclamation against private persons possessing arms or ammunition in the "occupied areas" thus minimizing the danger of capture of the arms by enemies.

Revolutionary advisers also report the defeat of the federalists in an attempt to recapture Manzanilla under protection of cruisers. They met complete defeat at the hands of General Estrada, it is claimed.

STILL SEARCH FOR DIXMUDE'S DEAD

Ministry Theory Discredited—Grenadan Wife Not Told of His Death—Mystery Deepens as No More Bodies or Wreckage Appear.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Paris, Dec. 29.—French, Italian and British destroyers and cruisers continued their search of the Mediterranean Sea today without finding any trace of the lost French dirigible Dixmude nor bodies of any of the missing 49 persons who were on board.

It is generally believed that the giant dirigible lies at the bottom of the sea somewhere off the coast of Sicily.

Uninhabited isles in the Mediterranean and deserted coasts of Tunis, Algiers, Tripoli and Sicily are being systematically searched in hope of finding survivors, who may have saved their lives by jumping overboard attached to parachutes.

But hope is now virtually abandoned that any of the passengers or crew of the Dixmude will be found alive.

Belief was expressed in some quarters that the crew of the Dixmude may have mutilated and cast the body of the commander, Lieut. Duplessis De Grenadan, overboard, but this theory is not entertained in official quarters.

Officials of the ministry of marine are convinced that the airship went down in a gale and, owing to her great weight, sank. However, the fact that no more bodies were found off the Sicilian coast where the corpse of Lieut. Commander Duplessis was picked up yesterday by Italian fishermen, has deepened this dramatic mystery of the air.

Opinion prevails in official circles that the Dixmude, crippled by lack of fuel and a broken motor, was lost in the Mediterranean on the night of December 21 during a terrific gale.

Mme. Duplessis De Grenadan, wife of the commander of the ill-fated ship who lives at Toulon, is about to become a mother. She has not yet been informed of her husband's death.

BANDITS GET $20,000 WORTH OF TOBACCO

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Dec. 29.—Bandits today invaded one of the most crowded streets of the East Side, held up a tobacco truck, kidnapped the driver and escaped with $20,000 worth of cigars and cigarettes, the property of P. Lorillard Company.

The robbery occurred within the shadow of a police station. The truck driver was released many blocks away, and later the empty truck was discovered.

Drives Auto Into Crowd.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Stamford, Conn., Dec. 29.—Charles Speh, retired fire department captain, was instantly killed here today and two men probably fatally hurt when a car driven by James A. Shannon of Stamford swept through a group working on a car outside a garage here. Six other men were slightly hurt. Shannon is being held without bail.

Japanese Cabinet Out.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Tokyo, Dec. 29.—The Yamamoto cabinet passed into history today. Prince Regent Hirohito accepted the resignation of its members which had been placed in his hands a few hours after an unsuccessful attempt had been made upon his life by a young college boy.

COUNTERFEITING PLOT EXPOSED

Five Arrests and More Coming of Gang That Got Rid of at Least Half Million Dollars in Bad $10 Notes.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Chicago, Dec. 29.—Important arrests, which will clear up a counterfeiting plot held responsible for the placing of between $500,000 and a million in spurious $10 federal reserve notes, were expected today by a picked squad of federal secret service men in Chicago.

The notes have been scattered between the eastern seaboard and the Rocky Mountains. Five arrests already have been made, including two here and one each in St. Paul, Minnesota, St. Louis and Peoria, Ill., though the names of but two of the alleged conspirators have been made public.

The names of 14 of the note distributors have been learned. The five under arrest include one woman, Mrs. Mae Sweeney was arrested in St. Louis after a frantic taxi cab shopping tour in which she was said to have passed 200 of the bad bills. Operatives said she still had 136 of them when arrested. She said her husband, Homer Sweeney, gave her the bills. He was arrested in Peoria, Illinois, more of the bad bills recovered and the hiding place of another cache, buried near a Chicago roadhouse, was revealed.

For three months federal secret service operatives from Washington have been hounded by a flow of bad money reported between New York and Omaha, from Boston to Galveston, federal reserve notes, series 7 G, with the portrait of Andrew Jackson.

The imitations are readily detected by a currency expert, but are close enough, even to the silk threads, to fool the inexperienced.

NEWBURGH HAS NO LONGING FOR PUBLIC WORKS BOARD.

The Newburgh News says editorially:

There is gratification in Kingston over the new mayor's appointment of Col. George F. Chandler, formerly commander of the state constabulary, as a member of the board of public works. The colonel by profession is a surgeon, and his municipal duties will not interfere with his private practice. To a city which thinks it needs a board of public works, the securing of the service of so able a man as Chandler is a cause for congratulation. It would be better news, though, to hear that the board of public works had been abolished and Chandler made head of that department of the municipality. Newburgh once thought it needed a board of public works, but it changed its mind after lower Broadway was "improved" with telford macadam. The macadam was not entirely without use as a foundation for the blithely that followed it.

ANOTHER ARREST FOR ROCHESTER MAIL ROBBERY.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 29.—The fourth arrest in the East Rochester mail truck robbery was made yesterday in Youngstown, Ohio, it was learned today, police taking into custody Harry Raub, who is alleged to be the "stick up man" in the $13,500 robbery and leader in an American-Canadian bootlegging syndicate which is charged with flooding the western end of New York and a portion of Pennsylvania with liquor and ale. He will be brought to this city. Two men and a woman are still being sought by federal authorities. Raub is understood to be under indictment in Scranton, Pa.

PEKING CONSIDERS NEW CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON

By Telegram to The Freeman. Peking, Dec. 29.—A second world conference in Washington to consider China's plight is being considered as a way out of the situation now faced by the Peking government, it was reported today. The gold franc dispute with France and the Canton customs seizure by Sun Yat Sen are so deadlocked that no solution is in sight.

It is possible that China will ask that the dispute with France be referred to the Hague tribunal for decision.

SMITH TO SUPERSEDE ALBANY COUNTY PROSECUTOR

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, Dec. 29.—Governor Smith today announced that next week he would request Attorney General Carl Sherman to supersede District Attorney Charles J. Harlick of Albany county to prosecute alleged "crime claimed to have been uncovered in the probe of the state bureau of canals."

No Jury Drawing.

There was no drawing of a panel of jurors to attend the term of Ulster county court to convene at the court house on the second Monday in January, at 2 p. m. this morning, it having been adjourned until Monday, Judge Fowler being out of town.

King Sends Sympathy.

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, Dec. 29.—King George today sent messages to President Millerand, of France, and Premier Poincare, expressing sympathy over the loss of the dirigible ballon Dixmude.

EPISCOPAL PEACE CONFERENCE CALL

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Dec. 29.—An amicable settlement of doctrinal differences within the Episcopal Church, now torn in a dispute between moderates and fundamentalists, was forecast by church leaders today.

A series of conferences, at which the advocates of the contending schools of theological thought will thrash out their beliefs has been arranged. To these conferences, which probably will be held in New York, will come bishops, clergy and laymen from various parts of the country.

An informal meeting, at which leaders of the various schools of belief agreed to the series of conferences, has already been held. This meeting was called by George Zabriske, chancellor of the New York Diocese, a fundamentalist.

"We feel that a conference at which we can frankly discuss modernism and fundamentalism between ourselves will save us from the dangers to church unity which have threatened," Zabriske said today.

CONEJOS SINKS IN RUSSIAN GALE

By Telegram to The Freeman. Moscow, Dec. 29.—The United States shipping board steamship Conejos has been sunk in the Black Sea with the loss of 30 of her crew, said a dispatch from Batoum today.

The Conejos foundered during a violent gale 150 miles off Batoum. Many ships have been driven ashore by the storm which swept the eastern part of the Black Sea.

Harbor works at Novorossiysk were badly damaged. Ships which were able to make port at Batoum and elsewhere said the gale was the worst in twenty years.

A railway train was blown from the tracks and into the sea at Annap. The grain ship Ingomen was carried around.

The Russian steamship Sebastopol was blown ashore on the Bulgarian coast. A number of other vessels were stranded in the same region.

TIRE OF GIVING FOREIGN ATHLETES FREE TRAINING.

A. A. A. Hears With Displeasure Ritola Is to Run for Finland.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Dec. 29.—The decision of Willie Ritola, national distance running champion, to compete for Finland in the Olympic games may result in legal action that will bar him from the American Olympic tryouts all athletes who have not taken out their first papers here. This statement was attributed today to Frederick W. Rubien, secretary of the A. A. U. officials of which look with disfavor upon foreign athletes getting their training in America only to return to their home countries for the international games.

He cited the cases of Hannes Kolehmainen, who competed here from 1912 to 1916 and then won the 1920 Olympic marathon for Finland; J. Tuomikoski and Eino Leino, also of Finland, and Peter Trioulidas of Greece, as others who had set the example for Ritola.

LAKE PLACID PRODUCES ANOTHER SKATING STAR.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Lake Placid, N. Y., Dec. 29.—Prospect that the American Olympic skating team may be increased from four to six men after the final tryouts at Mirror Lake this afternoon, was in evidence as the result of the victories scored yesterday by Valentine Blais, a local skater. The latter, named as one of the alternates, won two of the three races held, beating all four of the first stringers, Jewtraw, Moore, Kaskey and Steinmetz.

Peculiar Suicide.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Boston, Dec. 29.—Mystery today surrounded the death of William J. Downes, post office clerk and a prominent yachtsman who was found lying dead, face downward on the floor of a bedroom in his home at 95 Bowdoin street, Winthrop. A combination chisel and screw driver was found driven to the handle in his skull just back of the right ear. The case was declared "a most peculiar suicide" by the police and medical examiner.

Dr. Grinton Makes Appointments.

The Rev. M. L. Wolcott, a returned missionary from South America, has been appointed to supply the Tannersville charge by the District Superintendent Dr. G. W. Grinton. The Rev. J. McCormack Beeten has also been appointed to Ashland.

Italian Warship Sinks.

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, Dec. 29.—The Italian warship Isontzo has foundered at sea in a storm after a collision with another ship, according to a dispatch from Constantinople this afternoon. The disaster was said to have taken place off Zonguldak. The dispatch gave no details as to loss of life.

Steamer Missing.

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, Dec. 29.—The British steamship Parosot was reported missing today. Attempts to communicate with her by wireless failed.

FEDERALS ACTIVE IN PUEBLA SECTOR

Oregon Claims Gains All Over Country—Trying to Squeeze Rebels Out of Guadalupe Without Shelling City.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Mexico City, Dec. 29.—While military movements on the western front (Jalisco sector) have slackened, news was received today that the federal advance on the eastern front (Puebla sector) continues.

It is understood that a heavy force of federals is moving northward from the Isthmus of Tehuantepec to attack the rebels on the Puebla-Vera Cruz line.

Conditions in the north and northeast have improved so greatly that normal train service has been resumed upon the National Railways System.

President Obregon is still in the field with his troops, but is in continuous wire communication with the capital.

Many rebels are reported to have surrendered to the federals, taking advantage of President Obregon's promise of amnesty. The president is determined, however, that the army and civilian leaders, who were responsible for the uprising shall be summarily punished.

President Obregon and his advisers believe that the revolutionary movement is collapsing.

The rebels have begun to run short of ammunition and funds. The rebel force under General Mayotte has fallen back to Tehuacan, 66 miles southeast of Puebla city where they may attempt to make a stand. There is another rebel force at Tierra Blanca, sixty miles south of Vera Cruz.

The federals advancing through the state of Puebla are moving slowly in order to give engineers time to reconstruct bridges and damaged railway lines.

The battle for Guadalupe, second largest city in the republic, has been purposely delayed by the federals who wish to save the city from damage from artillery fire. It is believed that, by making a concentric movement, the rebels can be forced to evacuate Guadalupe.

BREAKERS AHEAD OF MELLON BILL

Nearly Every Republican Has Own Change To Make in It and Democrats Have an Entire Substitute.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Dec. 29.—The Mellon tax bill, proposing a horizontal reduction in taxes on incomes and far reaching changes and simplification in the general administration of the tax law, will be so revamped and rewritten during its long and tortuous course through the Sixty-Eighth Congress that neither Republicans nor Democrats were willing to hazard a prediction today as to an approximate date when congress will finally pass upon the reduction features.

It is safe to say that nearly every member of congress has his own ideas of what should go into a tax reduction bill, and the various features of the Mellon bill will be subjected to individual attack from Republican members as well as partisan attack by the Democrats as a whole.

The Democrats are planning to introduce their own measure, adopting some features of the Mellon bill, but differing radically on other features particularly as regard excess profits taxes, taxes on stock dividends, inheritance taxes etc.

The Democrats, too, according to present plans, will go further than has the secretary of the treasury in reducing taxes on incomes below $10,000. Work on this bill already has been begun by Representative Garner, Democrat of Texas, who will command the Democrats in their campaign in both houses.

Republican leaders, worried and harassed by evidences of Democratic solidarity and by the factional differences that can at any time wipe out the narrow Republican majority in either house, had about agreed today to split the Mellon bill into two distinct parts—one dealing with the reduction features of the bill, and the other with the purely administrative features of the measure. There is not much controversy over the administration end of the bill, and they were hopeful today that this matter could be quickly cleaned up after congress gets going again.

It is the tentative plan to pass the administrative bill as soon as possible and take up the soldier bonus, on the theory that no reduction estimates are possible until the fate of the bonus is determined. If there is to be a bonus, taxes can be reduced so much, but if there is no bonus, then taxes can be reduced so much more.

That the bonus will be passed through both senate and house in six weeks is conceded by every one. That it will be re-passed in the house over President Coolidge's veto is likewise considered certain. Whether it can be passed in the senate over the veto is another matter. One, two or three votes will decide the matter either way there.

Bonus leaders are determined to force the issue quickly, as soon as congress reconvenes after the holidays, and are organizing a meeting for July 1 to formulate a plan of action.

BEER $50 PER CASE IN WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA

Result of Dry Agents' Activity, Says Chief Pierce.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, Dec. 29.—Western Pennsylvania is "about the most desirable beer market in the eastern portion of the United States," according to report to Prohibition Commissioner Hayes today from Acting Divisional Chief J. A. Pierce, now engaged in a campaign to close up Pennsylvania breweries.

"Breweries are putting out but little beer, as they are being watched very closely, and beer is so high here that many breweries are endeavoring to ship it in 'pieces.' What little is coming in now seems to be coming from New Jersey. It is believed that the reason we have so much trouble with beer shipments is due to the fact that we have, by our seizures, put the price of beer up to over $50, which makes this about the most desirable beer market in the eastern portion of the United States."

Announcement was made at prohibition headquarters today that recent dynamiting and shooting in connection with enforcement drives in Maryland would result in the sending of special agents into this territory to run down and punish the bootleggers who are declared to be at the bottom of the trouble.

BENNER READY TO PAY FOR HIS CRIME

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Dec. 29.—Refusing to offer any defense, or to retain an attorney to argue the contention of his relatives that he is insane, Frank Benner, slayer of Miss-Estelle Phillips today declared "whatever the police do to him is all right."

Benner admitted the police say, that he killed Miss Phillips after attacking her last October. He escaped and went to Pennsylvania. He attacked Mrs. May Mitchell, a nurse at Endenheim, Pa., beating her so badly she had to be removed to a hospital.

Police sought to link Benner with five other murders. These Benner denies.

COURT FINDS WILL OF SPELLMAN SOUND

Justice Staley Directs Verdict Against Contestants After Jury Has Reported Itself Unable To Agree.

The jury which heard the evidence in the Spellman will contest case, after being out all night was unable to reach an agreement and at 10 o'clock this morning reported to the court that it had been unable to arrive at an agreement and probably would be unable to agree. The case was submitted to the jury shortly after 4 o'clock Friday afternoon and the jury immediately entered upon its deliberations. Since that time the jurors were kept together in the hopes that an agreement might be reached.

When the jury failed to arrive at an agreement Judge Staley withdrew the question of the will and directed a verdict. The verdict as directed by the court was in substance that the paper submitted to the court and the two codicils was the last will and testament of Richard Spellman; that the will and two codicils were properly subscribed to by witnesses; that the making of the will and the codicils was a free act on the part of the deceased; that the will and codicils were not procured through fraud, etc.; and that at the time of the drawing of the will and the two codicils Richard Spellman was of sound and disposing mind.

Before the verdict was taken John W. Eckert asked that an exception be noted to the discharge of the jury in the matter and to the direction of the verdict by the court. When the verdict had been recorded by the clerk he also moved to set aside the verdict as taken in answer to the three questions in regard to whether Mr. Spellman was of sound and disposing mind on the date of the drawing of the will and the two codicils, as being against the evidence and the law in the case.

In discharging the jury Judge Staley said that he had felt that there was some question of fact for the jury to decide and it had been for that reason he had kept them out all night with the hope that they might arrive at an agreement.

Contestants asked for a stay of 30 days before entry of order of certification in relation to questions submitted and an additional 60 days in case an appeal is taken. The order was granted.

COURT ADJOURNS SINE DIE.

Court adjourned sine die.

NORTH DAKOTA GETS COOLIDGE'S ACCEPTANCE

By Telegram to The Freeman. Pierre, S. D., Dec. 29.—The signed acceptance of President Coolidge as nominee of the state Republican majority has been received, according to a statement by the secretary of state today. The acceptance says:

"I, Calvin Coolidge, do hereby declare that if nominated and elected, I will qualify."

Hiram Johnson, Republican presidential candidate of California also filed his acceptance and was placed in the independent column on the ballot.

RUM FLEET DWINDLES FROM OVER 20 TO 4

By Telegram to The Freeman. Newark, N. J., Dec. 29.—The huge booze fleet which has been stationed off "Rum Row" between Sandy Hook and Sea Girt on the New Jersey coast, have picked up anchor and sailed for other shores, Prohibition Commissioner Chamberlain of New Jersey said today.

Chamberlain stated he had made a survey and found only four vessels in the rum armada. Previously it had been reported that more than twenty whiskey ships were stationed off the Jersey shores.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

NIGAL AND GIRAFFES

"I," said Mr. Nigal, "am the largest antelope in India."

"You're not in India, though," said Mr. Giraffe. "You're in the zoo, so how can you be the largest antelope in India?"

"I didn't just mean that," said Mr. Nigal.

"You spoke as though you meant what you said. Perhaps you thought someone would let a mistake go by and perhaps you thought that surely the giraffe would let such a mistake go by."

"Everyone knows that the giraffe is not very bright. Everyone knows that the giraffe's brain is not large, but then once in awhile we're not so terribly stupid."

"I just had a bright moment. That was when I noticed the mistake in your speech."

"Dear me," said the Nigal. "I'm rather unlucky to have been speaking during one of your bright moments."

"Oh, no," said the giraffe. "I wouldn't say that."

"But I did say it," the Nigal persisted.

"I mean," explained the giraffe, "I don't think I'd say it again."

"I don't intend to say it again," said the Nigal.

"I mean," continued the giraffe, "I don't think it was very much of a thing to say, anyway."

"I agree with you," said the Nigal. "Dear me," said the giraffe, "but you must certainly be trying to get even with me for taking you up as I did."

"You were right; oh, yes, you were right," said the Nigal. "I meant to say that I am the largest species of antelope of the country of India."

"That would have been the correct way to have spoken, and I am glad, Mr. Giraffe, that you have corrected me."

"Truly it would be a horrible thing if a Nigal became careless in the way he spoke."

"I don't know why it would be so horrible but it sounds rather fine to me, but that it would be horrible for me to speak any other way but very correctly."

"Anyway, I have said my say about myself. I'm not great on self-expression. I'm quiet and I rather like to be quiet."

"Everyone is much amused," said the giraffe, "because I am full of queer ways."

"Especially has my latest queer way amused everyone. I, somehow, won't go in my house from the yard, nor in the yard from my house without being pushed in.

"You see, my head is much higher than the door. I've grown so, as some would say. Oh, yes, many would doubtless think it was funny to say of me: 'Dear me, how you've grown. I remember you when you were a little giraffe chappie'."

"But it is true I've grown a great deal. And my head is higher than the doorway, as I said before."

"Well, I look out when I want to go out, and I look in when I want to go in, but I won't bend down my head to go in or out of my own accord."

"My keeper says it is a nuisance, but others think it is a great joke. Anyway, it has become a habit with me."

"I had my picture taken the other day with my mate," Mr. Giraffe continued. "I stood a little bit in front, but she poked her head about so there was a fine picture of her, too."

"Of course I looked so much taller and all of that, for I am taller. The keeper put up his hand to make us look at the camera and we were told to look pleasant. But we looked rather dignified and fine. We didn't want to have silly smiles on our faces. No, we're not much for silly grins. And we knew that so many would see our pictures."

"The handsome Sable Antelope had his picture taken, too, and so did the American Elk. The American Elk has had his picture taken when shed of his antlers and when at his best. Of course these had to be taken at different times." And the Springbok had his picture taken, too.

"I also heard that in the houses of Mr. Elephant and his relatives and Mr. Rhinoceros and Mr. Hippopotamus the sparrows had built nests and ate of the food to be found there and had regular winter homes free of charge. They also bathed in the pools."

"They said the sparrows were not afraid of such big animals."

"Well, I must show my keeper now I want to go indoors. I am weary from so much talking, but I can't blame anyone except myself for that."

The KITCHEN CABINET

A world is to be reconstructed. A new social mansion is to be reared. Which shall be the architect, evolution and its certainty, or revolution with its vague, idealistic dreams? The future of the story waits upon the answer—Herbert Wilton Stanley.

OLD-FASHIONED SWEETS

Is there ever a child who has not been made happy at a candy pull? Even grownups enjoy one. Let the little people have the kitchen during the winter seasonally to enjoy a real candy-pulling party.

Velvet Molasses Candy.—Take one cupful of sugar and three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, put on to boil. When boiling point is reached add one-half teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Boil until, when tried in cold water, it becomes brittle. Stir constantly during the last of the cooking. When ready to add one-half cupful of melted butter and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of soda. Pour into a buttered pan and cool. When cool enough to handle pull. While pulling, flavor with one teaspoonful of vanilla, one-half teaspoonful of lemon extract and a few drops of peppermint or oil of wintergreen.

Sugared Popped Corn.—Put two tablespoonfuls of butter into a saucepan and, when melted, add two cupfuls of brown sugar and one-half cupful of boiling water. Bring to the boiling point and let boil sixteen minutes. Pour over two quarts of popped corn, stirring until each kernel is covered with the sugar.

Peanut Brittle.—Take one pound of granulated sugar, put into a smooth iron frying pan and place over the heat. Stir until it is melted to a sirup taking care to keep the sugar stirred from the sides of the pan. When well-melted, add one quart of shelled and chopped peanuts, sprinkled with salt. Stir quickly and pour out into a greased pan to cool.

Orange Puffs With Orange Sauce.—Bake a cottage pudding and serve with the following: Beat the whites of three eggs until stiff; add one cupful of powdered sugar and the grated rind and juice of two oranges and the juice of one lemon.

Nut Bar.—Put a layer of walnut meats and almonds into a buttered pan; pour over a pound of sugar melted to a sirup, as for peanut brittle.

NEW YEAR SHOULD MEAN MORE SAVINGS WITH MORE EARNINGS

By S. W. Straus President American Society for Thrift

Many men and women are receiving salary increases at this period of the year, and the present is an opportune time to give thought to the matter of increasing one's savings along with one's increased income.

Will your enlarged salary for 1924 mean simply an advanced living standard, or will it mean also an added amount systematically saved?

In the final analysis it is not so much what a man earns as what he saves that makes him really contented and happy. He may earn $10,000 a year, but if he has saved nothing he will be dissatisfied, while a man who earns only $5,000, if he has systematically saved some portion of that $5,000, has a feeling of security and contentment that can be obtained only with the processes of saving. In other words, raising a man's salary does not insure happiness, unless that man saves at least some portion of his increase against future wants.

Higher wages, or as might be stated, inflated wages, will never correct inflated living.

Sound and wholesome policies of personal economics dictate that increased earnings should mean increased opportunities for saving as well as increased opportunities for spending.

The same principles apply in the management of a business. A concern may be large and doing an extensive business, but if its increased volume is not accompanied by a corresponding upbuilding of assets or reserves, it is not really making progress.

The test of real success is thrift. Neither in personal matters nor in business can true progress be made without it, no matter how circumstances may make it appear otherwise.

NOTICE OF BOND SALE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that the undersigned, Sheriff of the County of Shandaken, in the County of Ulster, in the State of New York, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder at the front door of the County Court House, in the City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York, on Monday, December 31st, 1923, at 11 o'clock, eighteen (18) bonds of the Town of Shandaken, in the sum of one hundred and dollars ($100) each, one of the par value of one thousand dollars ($1,000) fall due and being payable on the 1st day of March of each of the years 1924 to 1941, both inclusive.

Said bonds are registered bonds and bear interest at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum, payable annually on the 1st day of March of each year.

Said bonds are issued pursuant to the provisions of Sections 97 and 98 of the Highway Law, Sections 12, 13 and 14 of the County Law and Sections 6, 7, 8 and 10 of the General Municipal Law, and pursuant to an act of the Board of Supervisors passed December 21st, 1923.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of paying for the cost of construction of a bridge across the Warneersbushkill in said town.

Said bonds cannot be sold for less than par.

The purchase price will be required to be paid at the time of the sale and other terms of sale may be obtained by applying therefor to the undersigned Supervisor.

Written proposals may be submitted in accordance with the terms of sale.

The bids for the bonds shall be in lump sums only and not on a percentage basis. The bonds will be first offered separately and then in block. In event the aggregate of the bids for the separate bonds exceeds the highest block bid, the bonds will be struck down to the highest bidder for the highest bid for the bonds in block equal or exceeds the aggregate of the amount of the bids for the single bonds, the bonds will be struck off to the block bidder.

No bid shall be binding upon the town until the bonds have been offered both ways and actually struck off to the purchaser.

The bonds will bear date the 31st day of December, 1923.

The town will not be liable to the purchaser or any other person for any allowance or attorney's fees in relation to said bonds or for investigating the validity thereof.

Dated, December 24th, 1923.

RICE BROTHERS' FOUNDRY BURNED

The foundry in the rear of Rice Brothers Foundry and Machine Works on Abel street, near Hunter street, was destroyed by fire about 11 o'clock Friday evening. The fire was discovered by two men passing that way who turned in an alarm from Box 28 to which the fire department responded. The flames were confined to the one story frame building in the rear of the machine shops, and used for foundry purposes. The prompt discovery of the fire and the arrival of the fire department prevented the flames from spreading to the other buildings. Fire Chief Chipp this morning stated that the loss was estimated at about $1,500. It is understood that some insurance was carried.

MOTHERING THAT PAYS DIVIDENDS

The profession of motherhood is not supposed to be a well-paid occupation. And foster mothers—who do for pay what real mothers gladly give from affection—are generally not highly regarded. Yet out in Phoenix lives a woman who mothers all the children in the state of Arizona, gets paid for doing it, and has been honored by nearly every organization in the state. When Mrs. H. A. Guild was a girl she loved her younger brothers and sisters. When she grew up and taught, she loved her pupils—even in the huge machine-like system of the Chicago schools. And when marriage brought no babies of her own, she began to love and foster public movements for bettering humanity. Out of this last love grew her present mothering job. She was the first woman in Arizona to be appointed head of a department of state. Secretary of the Arizona child welfare board, she now has supervision of all child welfare measures, working through 65 county child welfare board members. And in addition she is a foster mother to a child for every day in the year, for there are 365 orphan children who live in foster homes with widowed mothers, as wards of Arizona.

"That's enough to keep any mother heart full to overflowing, isn't it? Even if the men and women of the state forget her, I imagine Mrs. Guild could keep happy. Furthermore, she's owner of a ten-acre ranch that has been turned from a sugarbrush and cactus desert to a producer of roses and 'long stam' cotton. The ranch owner organized the rural women of the state and brought them into association with their city sisters through district federations. Naturally the Federation of Women's Clubs made her state president.

Then Mrs. Guild decided that woman who had the vote ought to use it politically. Not unnaturally she was the first Arizona woman sent to the national Republican convention in 1920. In 1922 she was nominated for representative to congress, and was defeated only because her whole party ticket was snowed under.

Knowing big city, small city, town and country intimately, Mrs. Guild declares that if a girl has ability there is always room on 'Main Street' even though it may look crowded or empty of opportunity.

Politeness Only Gilding.
It is because gold is rare, that gilding is being invented, which without having its solidity, has all its brilliancy. Thus, to replace the kindness we lack, we have devised politeness which has all its appearance.—De Loris.

Rheumatism That Stays On, Tho Teeth and Tonsils Are Gone

Weekly Health Talk
By Froude & Mac Kinnon, D. C.

The rheumatism that stays on after teeth and tonsils are gone, is certainly a mean sort of rheumatism, for it makes the surgeon and the dentist both appear to be bad guessers. But it sometimes happens.

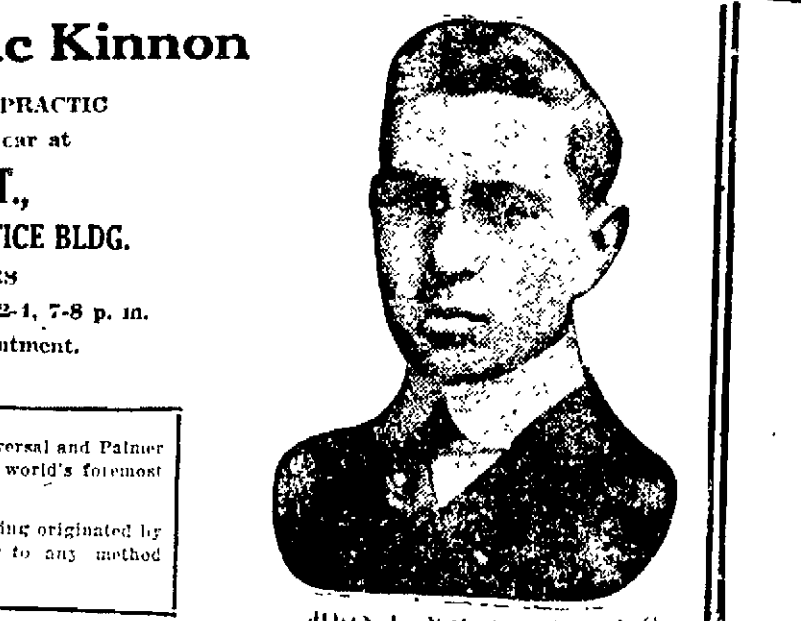

When there are pus pockets at the roots of teeth, and the tonsils are diseased, there is very apt to be a diseased body. But usually there is another cause for rheumatism which pulling teeth and removing tonsils does not affect. When liver and kidneys are under-active, due to spinal nerve pressure, it takes chiropractic spinal adjustments to restore health.

"I was confined to my bed with what the doctors said was sciatic rheumatism, due to the bad condition of my teeth and tonsils. I had all my teeth pulled. Then I went to Hot Springs, Ark. The physician there said my tonsils were responsible, and removed them. After this I took a thorough course of baths. I returned home in May still suffering and growing worse. Again I was in bed. Chiropractic was advised, and I tried it. After six adjustments there was some improvement. I continued and was able to get about with a cane. Now I am well, and I have been able to return to my work as a railroad conductor. I am 58 and I have been so much benefited that I want every one to know."—C. R. KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 29, 1923.

A STARTLING DISCOVERY.

There is a legend that the man who discovered the diamond mines of Golconda found the first precious stones in the garden of the house in which he was born, but only after he had returned home from wandering all over the earth in the vain search for fortune, wasting years and enduring suffering that would have been avoided had he begun his search for wealth at home. This incident is brought to mind by an advertisement that appeared in The Freeman a few days ago in which was set forth the astonishment and delight experienced by a very prominent citizen, head of one of Kingston's big institutions, when he visited one of Kingston's big stores in the height of the holiday business rush and could hardly believe he was in Kingston, because of the metropolitan appearance of store, stock and crowd of customers.

Ignorance was, in some degree, excusable in this case, the astonished person being a man and the store being a dry goods and department store, as most men enter stores in this line only under compulsion. But there are many men and women in whom such ignorance is without this excuse or any reason other than that of apathy and failure to appreciate the advantages they enjoy. Among a certain class it is considered quite the thing to speak only contemptuously of home conditions and conveniences, to express no approval of anything in the city in which they live. Such persons are hopeless and should move to some place that suits them.

But the majority of us are very much in the same position as the gentleman who was surprised at finding a superior store in Kingston. We have either taken the good quality of Kingston stores as a matter of course and made no comparison with stores in other cities that would have shown Kingston's excellence, we have taken the remarks of chronic fault-finders as facts, or, like the man whose surprise suggested the writing of these lines, we have not visited the stores at all. Many leading business men know little about business houses other than their own. If they would visit around a little they probably would, too, be agreeably surprised at the magnitude of various lines of business in Kingston. Pleasant and startling discoveries along these lines await a great many of our leading citizens if they will only take the time to make them. The shopping members of their families and the shopping members of families all over Ulster and adjoining counties made these discoveries long ago. That is why the 1923 holiday trade eclipsed that of any previous year and why trade all the year is increasing, making possible better stores, better streets, better public buildings and increasing bank deposits in Kingston.

More than a century ago the Dutch took Holland. Maybe some day Kingston people will discover Kingston.

It is a rare author who knows his own literary child after the "movie" manipulators have finished their work, and it is no surprise to read that a New York writer has brought it against a motion-picture company that changed his story beyond recognition. This author's complaint has been upheld both by the court and by a public too often offended by the liberties movie producers take with long-remembered classics.

"Why not teach the children," asks one of the reformers of the hour, "that every Christmas tree may mean that some poor little bird is without a place to sleep?" It would not be quite fair to assume that this reformer wears an ornament on her hat that deprives a bird of its life, but it is obvious that there are more practical methods of protecting the feathered creatures than the abolition of Christmas trees.

Considering the developments in aviation, it seems almost incredible that only twenty years have passed since the first successful flight was made in a heavier-than-air machine. It was on December 17, 1903, that Wilbur and Orville Wright rose from the sand dunes at Kitty Hawk, N. C., and kept aloft just 59 seconds.

It is "hinted" that King Alfonso's Italian tour may cost America two red hats—which obviously attributes greater importance to Alfonso's pleasing personality, or to monarchical but faded Spain, than to America's great population and influence.

The announcement from Hollywood that the number of "movie" actors and would-be actors congregated there is far in excess of the possible jobs was a news item without the element of the unexpected.

NEWBURGH BEATS ST. MARY'S FIVE

Before a large crowd at St. Mary's Hall, Friday evening, the St. Mary's senior team went down to defeat at the hands of the Newburgh Army Five by the score of 21 to 17.

The game was fast and exciting from the first toss-up and continued throughout the struggle. At the end of the first half, the visiting club had a two point advantage 9 to 7.

In the final half the Saints evened matters up but could not get in the lead. Some speedy work netted the visitors a couple of fields giving them the edge. Matty Dence refereed. In the preliminary game the junior team won.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton M.D.,

THE NEW RESOLUTION.

It's your birthday. You have changed your position perhaps.

Or it is the end of the calendar year. You make new resolutions. You've broken many before, but you remember that it is better to make them even if you break them, than not to have even the "urge" to make them.

What is my idea? That you make an arrangement just with yourself that you are going to interest yourself in that body of yours.

It gives you all you get whether it be joy or sorrow, pleasure or pain. You see, hear, suffer and enjoy through the medium of your body.

Some things may come to you causing sorrow or pain over which you have no control. They come to all people. But you have sense enough to know that a great many of them are under your control.

What about it? That your determine to treat that body of yours as it deserves, as it gives to, or takes away so much from your enjoyment of life. The first thing if you are an indoor person will be that you are going to get at least one hour of the day outdoors. Even if you are in an office of factory, go out at the noon hour for fifteen minutes. Then come back and rest for five minutes before you eat your lunch. After lunch rest for five minutes and then get the balance of your hour outdoors. That will be something.

Next is the matter of food. If you are at office work make up your mind that a small piece of meat is sufficient and you are going to eat something green every day besides your vegetables. If you are an outdoor man and are doing hard work, don't be afraid of meat. It is useful to repair tissue worn out by hard physical work. If you are thin make up your mind to get an extra egg or glass of milk at eleven o'clock and at four. If you are too heavy determine that for one year at least, you'll not eat much food after the noon meal, and on that you'll cut down all your liquids. And whether light or heavy, fruit and one rough vegetable or cereal will be taken daily.

And as to exercise. When I tell you that four minutes twice a day is all that you require you'll be hardly giving that body of yours a fair deal if you're not willing to do that much.

1st—Jogging or stationary running one hundred steps. The rocking from side to side with knees kept straight ten times to each side.

Jogging 100 steps again. Lying on back, and raising legs, knees straight to almost the right angle eight times.

Then jogging 50 steps. Increase these slightly each week up one hundred and fifty steps.

Not a heavy program, is it? I have no hesitation in saying that if you're willing to follow the above suggestions, you'll get more, and give more with that body of yours.

TAKE GRENEDAN'S BODY TO TOULON

By Telegram to The Freeman. Messina, Sicily, Dec. 29.—French naval authorities today formally took charge of the body of Lieut. Duplessis De Grenedan, commander of the lost French dirigible Dixmude. It will be taken to Toulon, France for burial upon a warship.

Fishermen living on the southwestern coast of Sicily, where the commander's body was picked up, from the Mediterranean yesterday, are searching for other bodies.

Search of the clothing of the dead air officer failed to reveal any documents which would throw light upon the tragic loss of the great dirigible. The body was fully clothed except for the cap. The face was mutilated which may have resulted from impact with the water. There were no bruises upon the body, which discredits the belief reported from Paris that the crew may have mutilated, seized the commander and thrown his body overboard.

Fishermen living at Sciacca, off which port the body was picked up, said the storm over the Mediterranean last Friday and Saturday was one of extreme violence. They believe the airship could not have weathered such a gale.

Search for wreckage and bodies by fishermen has been intensified by hope of financial reward. Fishing nets are being drawn through the water in hope of picking up corpses.

French seaplanes are cruising over the sea in hope of sighting wreckage or bodies.

French and Italian wireless stations are asking ships in the Mediterranean to keep a sharp lookout and to report immediately if any survivors are found.

GIRLS REVOLT AGAINST "PADDLE"

Threat to Restore Corporal Punishment at Ohio Institution Results in Riot in Which Guards Are Overwhelmed—Ten Girls Missing.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Delaware, Ohio, Dec. 29.—A check up this morning by officials of the Girls Industrial School, a state correctional institution here, revealed that ten inmates were still at large following a riot in which more than a hundred inmates participated.

The riot broke out late last night, and bricks and stones were hurled by inmates at officials who attempted to restore order.

Windows of some of the cottages in which incorrigible girls are housed were smashed by the rioters, and help was summoned from officials at Delaware. Volunteers from farms nearby also aided the officials, who were outnumbered ten to one.

Trouble broke out about seven o'clock last night when rumors were circulated that corporal punishment, banned by the state since the dismissal of Mae E. Stannard as matron last summer, would be restored by the new matron, Mrs. J. P. Elton. Residents of Cottage Number 5, in which approximately forty girls are housed, were the first to rebel.

They demanded that the substitute matron, who is taking the place of Mrs. Ella Cherington, regular matron of the cottage, deny reports that the "paddle" was again to be used. Failing to get satisfaction they marched to other cottages and inmates of these, it was reported, joined in the battles.

As reinforcements were received by the officials, the girls were placed under guard in the assembly hall, and by midnight about 100 had been rounded up.

A STILL FINER SINGLE-SIX

Unchanged in Fundamentals

The improvements which make the new model Packard Single-Six a still finer car are not fundamental changes.

Perhaps the most striking improvement in the Single-Six is the adoption of four-wheel brakes—which the Packard Straight-Eight was the first prominent American car to carry.

To insure even greater durability, still longer life, the new model Single-Six is provided with a heavier transmission. It is exceptionally quiet and smooth in operation.

Steering has been made even easier than before. The steering wheel has also been enlarged.

You will note an improvement in appearance due to the fact that the artillery type wheels are of heavier construction.

As in the Straight-Eight, the battery has been enclosed in a theft-proof box and located on the running board, where it is more accessible.

You will find in the Single-Six the same brilliancy in every phase of performance; the same brilliant beauty of design and color, which, in the opinion of all America, the finest six-cylinder car in the world.

The new Single-Six awaits your inspection. We will gladly send a car to your home or office for a demonstration.

Refinements in Regular Equipment

There are also several important refinements in regular equipment, including—
Gasoline gauge on the instrument board;
The use of adjustable window regulators on the rear windows of Sedans and Sedan-Limousines;
The adoption of an efficient stop-light for all types;
Larger steering wheel;
A more beautiful instrument board, with walnut finish;
Rear vision mirror and windshield cleaner;
An interior tonneau light for all open models.
Toilette cases, smoking sets for enclosed cars.

CONSTABULARY
KILL 31 MOROS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Manila, Dec. 29.—Thirty-one Moros were reported killed in a battle with Philippine constabulary at Mandalay in Lanao today.

According to a report received here, a detachment of sixty constabularymen attacked the Moros under Chief Data, whose men had cut the telephone wire between Mandalay and Camp Keithley. The Moros were armed with spears and bolos and were surrounded in an abandoned cottage.

No casualties were reported among the constabulary. The fight has fanned the fires of enmity to greater heights between the Moros and Filipinos and caused a grave situation in the Moro provinces.

Honest, efficient and reliable—all the way through. No graft, no bootlegging and no vice in this town. Big clear-cut officers and dain courteous and gentlemanly too. No sir, there ain't another city.'

The same citizen's opinion of the same police force on another day: 'Can you imagine that big bum calling me for that? Why, honestly, I wasn't hitting more than twenty per cent. A fine police force that'll tolerate a man of that calibre. Arrest honest, law-abiding citizens and let the riff-raff of the city gamble, bootleg, and rob under their very eyes? I suppose he wanted me to slip him ten—just the way with the whole police force—just a mess of graft. I don't see why the people stand for it. Glass Bottom Ocean Ships Next.

A type of glass-bottom ship that will probably be used in regular ocean-going service, has been perfected by a sea-going pilot. In the bottom of this new ship is a heavy glass window through which a searchlight is thrown on the bed of the ocean. By calculating the angle of the searchlight rays the depth of the ocean can be determined and shoals thus avoided when running through fog or shallow water. The glass window is protected by a valve, also, to avoid flooding should the glass be broken.

The Electric Eel.

None of the mammals, birds or reptiles has the power to discharge electrical currents, but there are several species of insects and fish thus endowed. The electric eel is one of the best known of the 'living batteries.' It inhabits the rivers and lakes of Brazil and the Guianas. It sometimes attains a length of eight feet with a girth equal to that of a man's thigh. The electric organs are situated in the tail, and are composed of numerous cells containing a jelly-like substance.

PIERCE-ARROW TO CONTINUE PRESENT CAR

'The present Pierce-Arrow car is to be continued in 1924 as the standard Pierce-Arrow expression of the utmost in elegance and excellence which can be built into a motor car,' according to an authorized statement issued today by Myron E. Forbes, president of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company.

'There have been so many reports in circulation as to what Pierce-Arrow intends to do next year that it seems advisable to make a clear statement at this time,' declares Mr. Forbes. 'The Pierce-Arrow car, as it is being produced today, is recognized as America's premier automobile and it is not proposed to take any steps which will do ought to strengthen that position. The Pierce-Arrow passenger car and the Pierce-Arrow motor truck in all their present basic essentials will be continued as a fixed part of Pierce-Arrow policy.'

'The reports that this company intended to announce a light six in the near future are doubtless grounded on certain work which has been in progress in the Pierce-Arrow experimental department. It is the function of that department to carry on a wide range of research work, and it is true that the experimental engineers have been studying the production of light sixes, just as they review all tendencies in contemporary motor car production.'

'At the present time the company is not in position to make any definite announcement regarding its policy on a light six type of car, but it can be authoritatively stated that if a light six were developed it would in no way affect the present Pierce-Arrow car. That car has been developed by more than twenty years adherence to the finest conceptions of motor car manufacture. It is the backbone of the Pierce-Arrow business and the continued creation of that car, in accordance with those ideas which have always actuated its production, will always be regarded as the first mission for which this company is organized.'

TO SING CAROLS IN TOWER AT CHURCH OF REDEEMER

An interesting and unusual service will be held Sunday evening at the Lutheran Church of The Redeemer when an organ recital and chorus singing in the tower will give expression to the Christmas spirit. The organ recital will begin at 7:15. It will be the last opportunity for down towners to hear Prof. Riechers in an extended effort as the organist of the Redeemer Church. This program which can be seen in the church announcements includes, among other well selected numbers, the Meditation Elegy of Borovskii, the rendering of which at the recent La Tour recital provoked such widespread and favorable comment. Well known Christmas carols will be sung in the tower and the anther numbers of the services are a beautiful setting for women's voices of Silent Night and the familiar and always inspiring Gloria from Mozart's 12th Mass.

GREEKS MOVE FROM KARAGACH

Turkish Flag Floats Over Suburb of Adrianople.

KNOWN AS STRATEGIC POINT

"Karagach, which recently saw the Greek flag furled from its flagstaff and the Turkish crescent flaunt gayly in its place, has long been a chateau or suburb of the larger city, Adrianople. And Adrianople, down at the heels though it is, has been the 'apple-of-the-eye' of many a Turkish sultan, because it was the first city of any size which the Turks ever captured in Europe," says a bulletin of the National Geographic society issued from its Washington headquarters.

"Karagach is a strategic point along the Constantinople - Sophia - Belgrade railway, which is Bulgaria's outlet to the Aegean. Recent reports say that the Greeks have moved out bag and baggage, leaving Karagach dead and the corpse dismantled, their gutted houses looking down in their ruin and desolation upon the naked streets. They have gone out on the plain beyond to build near Ourlil, a city of their own, and have called it Orestias after one of their heroes at Troy, the name which they had formerly given to Karagach.

Was Home of the Sultan.

"Karagach, one of the five suburbs of Adrianople, which lies to the west of the city near the confluence of the Aida and the Maritza, is Western in its general design, with detached residences in gardens, of the modern European type. Adrianople, however, is distinctly oriental in character and has for many years been a strongly fortified outpost of the Turks on the frontier of the Balkans.

"Many of history's pageants have been staged in the ancient city. Hadrian gave it his name; the Roman emperor of the East, Valens, met his death at the hands of the Goths before it; Huns, Greeks, Bulgars and Crusaders have swept over and around it. The Turks captured it in 1361, and after that time until the fall of Constantinople it was the home of the Turkish sultan—the basis of the sentiment which the Turks profess for it.

"Though many travelers think that the great Suleimanli at Constantinople is the most magnificent of the mosques of the East, the architect Suleiman considered the mosque at Adrianople his best work. He is reported to have said that he designed the Shah-zadeh at Constantinople when he was an apprentice, the great mosque of Suleiman when he was a journeyman and the Selimieh at Adrianople when he was a master builder.

Removing Hats an Affront.

"Some delightful stories, too, have been linked with the dramatic history of the city. Once during the time of Suleiman the Magnificent, his son visited Adrianople and the ambassadors from the courts of Europe came to present their respects. The last diplomatic representative to arrive in the city was the Persian, who was astonished and angered by the fact that the Europeans took off their hats to him. It is a serious breach of etiquette for a Mohammedan to uncover his head in public, so he demanded an explanation. The master of ceremonies poured oil on the troubled waters by telling him that the Christians thereby indicated their willingness to lay their heads at the feet of the sultan.

"Karagach was a Bulgarian suburb of the main town in the days before the World war, and the Maritza, on which it stands, flows picturesquely through Bulgarian legends and the national hymn of that country. The town is lighted by petroleum lamps and from it there is a continual tramp of traffic over its two-mile causeway to the main part of the city.

Costumes Are Heavy Burden.

"Back in the old days Bulgarian girls and occasionally a married woman a little more daring than the rest used to gather in some convenient place out of doors, where they were joined by the youths of the town and the village piper, for their favorite pastime—songs and dancing.

"There they formed in line with the horovodka, or dance-leader, at one end. This young lady started the song and half the performers accompanied her, the other half repeating the verses after her. Then the next young lady in the line started another song, and so the fun continued until everyone had had a chance.

"But the American girl would be utterly astonished to understand how the peasant women could dance because of the ponderous weight of their silver ornaments and their garments. One active English woman who lived in a full Bulgarian costume for a masquerade party found that she could endure the weight of it for only half an hour at a time."

POKES DYNAMITE; LOSES LIFE

Delayed Charge Drives Shovel Through Worker's Head.

Because he moved a stick of dynamite to learn why it had not exploded, Edward Owens, sixty-seven, is dead at Milford, Pa.

Owens was digging holes for electric light poles near Milford, using dynamite in rocky ground. When a charge was slow to explode he moved the stick with a shovel. The explosion followed, driving the shovel handle through the head and badly mangling his body.

Low Cunning.

It is a special trick of low cunning to squeeze out knowledge from a modest man who is eminent in any science, and then to use it as legally acquired, and pass the source in total silence.—Horne Walpole.

"ROBIN HOOD" OF INDIA SHOT TO DEATH BY COPS

Leader in Many Daring Raids and Narrow Escapes at Last Falls During Fight.

Jumbalingam, a notorious bandit known for many years as the Robin Hood of India, has been shot dead with his lieutenant, Kasli, in an affray with the Tinnevely police.

The death of this leader, marking the end of a long campaign on the part of the police, was the result of a sudden night raid. Constables surrounded the house in which Jumbalingam and other dacoits were sleeping. The inmates of the house made a spirited defense, killing the Indian police officer in charge of the party and wounding several others, but were soon overpowered by force of numbers and were shot down.

Operating in the hilly tract between the Tinnevely district and Travancore state, Jumbalingam and his robber band became widely celebrated for their innumerable exploits and their sensational escapes from the police even after arrest.

The bandits made their home in almost inaccessible mountain places, and from these points of vantage made frequent raids into the plains. Disguised as holy men or innocent beggars, they frequented the country roads and relieved travelers of whatever valuables they possessed.

On one occasion when Jumbalingam and a number of his confederates were confined in the central jail at Palamcottah, he, by some means yet a mystery, obtained keys to all the cells where his men were confined and enabled the whole party to escape, unnoted by any of the guards or warders set over them.

At another time the police captured the bandits by the aid of an ex-convict who, on promise of a reward, joined Jumbalingam's gang and, at a suitable opportunity, betrayed it to the police party. As Jumbalingam and his fellows were being led to jail, in charge of an armed guard, they succeeded not only in escaping but in stripping the guards of their uniforms and taking their carbines and ammunition.

Jumbalingam perpetrated many of his recent robberies by personating a police officer charged with the special duty of capturing him. A heavy price had been offered for his head for several years.

DANISH PROFESSOR WHO WON NOBEL SCIENCE PRIZE

Prof. Nels Bohr of the University of Copenhagen, Nobel prize winner, was frightened at the thought of a flashlight photo, but meekly gave in before beginning the first of his six lectures at Yale university. In his lecture he showed pictures of imaginary collisions between electrons and atoms and explained how the study of what happened when these minute particles of matter came together had confirmed his hypothesis.

2 OLDEST MESSENGER BOYS

Lexington, Ky., Has One 71 Years Old and Another 65.

Lexington, Ky., has one "messenger boy" past the seventy mark and another almost that old.

They are W. T. Baker, who was seventy-one years old last March, and J. T. Taylor, who is sixty-six years old. Both are employed by the Western Union.

That the two are as spry as any of the boys is indicated by their records. One day recently Baker delivered 112 messages and made 22 calls for telegrams.

Baker thinks he is the oldest messenger boy in the United States.

India Increases Cotton Acreage. India's cotton acreage this year is 419,000 acres larger than a year ago, an official cablegram from Calcutta to the Department of Agriculture at Washington shows. The forecast reports 17,831,000 acres, compared with 17,412,000 a year ago.

Man's Heart on Right Side.

An autopsy performed at Memorial hospital, Norwalk, O., over the body of Henry C. Morrison revealed a strange location of internal organs. The heart was on the right side and scarcely any of the other organs were in normal positions.

Figs Good Food.

Both fresh and dried figs are whole some, and, weight for weight, figs contain more nutrient properties than bread. Figs have laxative properties and furnish heat and energy to the body.

THE OLD YEAR DIES—HAIL 1924

Once more a span of Time has slipped past, never to return. Again we face another year—another twelve months of toil and rest, sweetness and sorrow, pleasure and pain. And perhaps, listening to the bells and shrill whistles greeting the New Year, we wonder "Is it worth while? Does the little which I shall gain recompense for the hours of strain and worry and heartache?"

Think then—would you choose in place of the little cycle of future time, the peace of the grave, the stillness of an Arctic night? Would you seek the rest you crave in the invalid's bed, or change your life for that of the smiling empty headed savage?

For those things which we seem to hate most, monotony, drudgery, strain and responsibility, are the rocks upon which our civilization is founded, and deprived of them they become the most wanted things in the world.

Looking ahead we smile—Tomorrow is another day—Ah! This is Life after all—Life and Happiness, for:

"Industry is not only the instrument of improvement but the foundation of pleasure. He who is stranger to it may possess, but cannot enjoy; for it is labor only which gives relish to pleasure. It is the appointed vehicle of every good to man. It is the indispensable condition of possessing a sound mind in a sound body."—Blair.

ONE DISH LUNCHEONS AND EASILY PREPARED MENUS ON A GRILL

Don't overwork the can opener.

This is nothing against the can. But many virtues become vices when carried to extremes; and such boons as canned vegetables, fish, pork and beans and spaghetti may wear their welcome out if used too much. Try one-dish luncheons such as mushrooms sautéed in butter on toast, or cream oyster stew with coleslaw, toasted triscuit and tea. One hot dish and coffee saves the meal from a ready-made appearance.

A very appetizing tamale pie is easily prepared and is a filling one-dish luncheon.

Supper-Time Savories.

Broiled sweetbreads served with creamed mushrooms, potato chips, a fruit salad and coffee, and Camembert or Philadelphia cheese with a burger Nockeln, which is a sweet bit of guava jelly, make an aromatic and satisfying supper, and the little stove and a little foresight will accomplish it.

A curried lamb or chicken served in pastry cases (the confectioner will oblige) would appease a hearty appetite, particularly if served after a sardine and chili sauce canape and accompanied by a generous Waldorf salad. And, by the way, sardines in mustard, in tomato, plain, in oil to grill or for sandwiches or salad, are handy standbys—they even save space on the shelf. A good can opener is all you need to make them easily available.

A cosmopolitan salad, a sort of League of Nations meal, might include an Italian polenta (layers of well cooked corn alternating with a flavorful sauce made of green peppers, onion, tomato and mushrooms, boiled down until thick), a French salad of well marinated lettuce and cress, using tarragon vinegar; and a dessert of Austrian extraction, Salz-

burger Nockeln, which is a sweet bit of guava jelly, make an aromatic and satisfying supper, and the little stove and a little foresight will accomplish it.

A menu composed of a "wiggly" made of chicken, shrimp or salmon, creamed with sliced stuffed olives and a can of small French peas; cheese-filled celery stalks for a salad, and a wine jelly (yes, it can be constitutionally done) with raisin cake, would have a charming flavor of extemporaneous hospitality. And, by the way, buy your shrimp at the market some time, turn them pink yourself by boiling five minutes in salted water, and discover the real flavor of shrimp.

The state department of education in Maine is offering, free of expense, a six weeks' course for rural leaders to 100 rural school teachers who are normal school graduates. This is to stimulate rural school teaching in that state.

BUFFET AND GRILL SUPPERS FOR NEW YEAR'S EVE AND WINTER PARTIES.

One or Two Hot Dishes, a Hot Drink, Sandwiches, Salads, Sweets and Savories Needed.

(By Virginia Carter Lee.)

In a buffet supper there are generally only two courses (although cups of hot bouillion may be served as an appetizer, if desired) and the viands are served directly from a decorated table in the dining room. For a New Year's affair any holiday decorations are in order, although many hostesses are now using a white and green effect with bright crimson candles, as the cheery note.

One bowl and a pair of sweetbreads will make the mouse and fifty oysters used for the poulette preparation. Allow two dozen each of the sandwiches and bread sticks, two quarts of the frozen pudding, three dozen small cakes and four quarts of the fruit punch.

To prepare the sweetbread and chicken mousse, have ready six cups of combined cooked chicken and sweetbreads and chop as finely as possible, sprinkling in a teaspoon of salt, half a teaspoon of paprika. Soak three tablespoons of gelatin in three-quarters of a cup of cold water, dissolve in three-quarters of a cup of seasoned hot, strained chicken stock and add to the minced chicken and sweetbreads. Set aside until the mixture begins to stiffen, mix well and fold in one and a half cups of double cream whipped solid. Turn into square moulds, chill on the ice and serve, cut in thin slices garnish with parsley.

HOW TO MAKE THE CAKE WHEN THE CELLAR IS DRY.

The above is an exceptionally rich, favorable cake, even for those days of wine cellars and southern markets where rich fruits were low priced and plentiful.

But this particularly lonely cellar was bone dry from principle and the law forbade resort to the skulking bootlegger. The price of the crystallized fruit was almost prohibitive. Then an inspiration, and the resulting verdict of the Chief Critic, a very discriminating husband, was "the best fruit cake we ever had." And this was what Madame Old-Fashioned Housekeeper did:

She bought canned Hawaiian pineapple and Maraschino cherries, using the chopped fruit instead of the more expensive crystallized variety, and reserving their juices to soak the fruit over night, as directed, in place of the "brandy or whiskey." The other ingredients were forthcoming from pantry and grocery shop. Even the rosewater was found at the druggist's and wine jelly made with the lawful wine products on the market today was used in place of the grape jelly.

The cake was almost as moist and rich as in the pre-Volstead days.

Cream Crackers
Salted Nuts Celery Stuffed Olives
Creamed Mushroom Patties
Chicken Salad
Finger Rolls Fried Oysters
Angel Parfait with French Fruits
Macarons
Demitasse

Although the above menu may seem rather elaborate, still it is not very hard to prepare, and anyone who has eaten the patties with chicken salad and two or three fried oysters in combination can testify how very good it is.

The party shells may be purchased from a caterer or bakery, and the filling, salad and the frying of the oysters done early in the afternoon, the latter only requiring to be run into a hot oven just previous to their service.

AN HISTORIC WATER POWER UNDER MODERN DEVELOPMENT.

In the Ulster County Directory of 1871-1872 is an account of the discovery in 1663 of Dashville Falls, and what is referred to as the "fertile Wallkill Valley." It appears that in June of that year Indians attacked the settlement at Kingston, massacred many of the inhabitants and carried away four women to their camp. The account recites how the remaining people were stirred by this outrage, and determined to punish the savages, and if possible rescue the women. They succeeded in capturing an Indian, who, to save his life, told where the camp could be found. Here is part of the story:

"The captive Indian was held as a hostage and a party was sent out, consisting of the husbands of the captured females and others, on the route designated. They first bent their way to the Rondout, and then up the rugged steep of the Wallkill between its mouth and Dashville Falls, where as yet Nature presides in her almost primitive majesty and grandeur, but where ere long the busy hum of manufactories will be heard above the noise of water falls and rapids, and wealth will issue forth as if springing from the foaming cataract. A little further on, their way was more easy and less obstructed. The interval lands in the Wallkill Valley received their passing notice and attention, but the object of their search absorbed their minds and energies."

The prophecy of this early chronicle: "ere long the busy hum of manufactories will be heard above the noise of water falls and rapids, and wealth will issue forth as if springing from the foaming cataract," has been amply fulfilled.

In another part of the directory is an account of the flourishing industry at Rifton (formerly called Arnoldton, in honor of the builders of the first mills). The old factories have long since been abandoned. But by the harnessing of this stream with great concrete dams and modern power houses, its energy is being converted into wealth in the form of electric current, which is being distributed up and down the Central Hudson Valley for the many uses of our present-day civilization.

BEST CHRISTMAS AT TB. HOSPITAL

Tree, Gifts and Bountiful Dinner—
Clinton Avenue Church Young People Entertain.

Each year the generosity of the people of Kingston and vicinity makes it possible to give the shut-ins at the Tuberculosis Hospital a little merrier, a little more generous, a little brighter Christmas than any year before, and that has been particularly true this year. The hospital Christmas bell rang for the first time—as usual—when J. Garbarino made his annual gift of a beautiful Christmas tree. Then there were Christmas wreaths and poinsettias for each room and the porch, dining room, etc. and decorations for the Christmas tree, which was lighted on Christmas Day. The following list of gifts will show that a good Christmas dinner was enjoyed by the patients, thanks to their friends. Also Santa Claus and many friends sent gifts which were all delivered for Christmas Day, so that it was a merry day indeed. Best of all, the prayer of the nurse, (temporarily in charge of the hospital,) Miss Marjorie Davis, who was the first patient at the tuberculosis camp and is now well and hearty, was answered, and all of the sick ones were as comfortable as could be, if anything a little better than for some days.

From the morning after the first appeal appeared in The Freeman, the contributions of money came in to Mrs. C. N. Reed with such generosity that she was able to get the following gifts for the patients, the merchants helping out somewhat as will be seen a little later on: One year's Daily and Sunday—subscription to The New York World; one year's subscription to The American Magazine; one year's subscription to The Saint Nicholas Magazine; five new Victrola records; for each patient a tiny Christmas envelope containing a silver half dollar; an individual gift for each patient; a little remembrance for each nurse, the laundress and the cook; $10 with which to buy fruit at two different times, after all of the Christmas goodies have been eaten up; a fine, new, warm coat for Marjorie Myers. In addition to these gifts each patient received a handsome calendar from the Women's Auxiliary of St. John's Episcopal Church.

This year the Christmas entertainment was given by the Young Peoples Society of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, led by Mr. Rider. The party, including a group of the young people who sang the Christmas carols, reached the hospital in time to begin the program at eight o'clock. Mrs. Reed announcing the numbers as follows:
Chorus, unaccompanied, "O Come, All Ye Faithful."
Vocal Solo, "Though Low Be the Manger," Mrs. Ida Parsella, accompanied by Vernon S. Miller.
Dialogue, "I Be Here" and "Abbe Dere," by Daw Secore and Jason Carle.
Piano solo, Vernon Miller.
Reading, "Santa Claus's Stocking," Miss Clara Saulpaugh.
Vocal solo, "The Holy City," Clyde Matthews accompanied by Rodney Chipp.
Christmas Greetings and Little Christmas talk by Mrs. Reed.
Chorus, "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing."

Every number was hugely enjoyed by such of the patients as were able to be on the covered porch, in spite of the gale of wind that tugged at the canvas screens and tried to peep under and see what all the good time was about. Moreover the radio was so set that some of the patients in the cottage could hear the program, after which the gifts were distributed by Mrs. Reed who only wishes, as she does each year, that the generous donors could see for themselves the joy their gifts afford.

There follows below a list of those who contributed money and a list of gifts during the month of December and for the Christmas season.
Contributions of money from Miss Margaret Deudney, Miss Sottie Rice, Mrs. E. Van Dyke, Mrs. J. S. Baisden, A. Friend, Mrs. Frederick Warren, Mrs. Arthur E. Fronefield, A. Friend—K. L. Society Notes

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Dedrick announce the engagement of their daughter Helen Elizabeth to Harold DeWitt Young of New York.

Gess-Koch.

George H. Gess of North street and Miss Lillie E. Koch of No. 60 Hooker street, were united in marriage December 4, by the Rev. F. C. Schroeder of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church. They were attended by Fred Studdt and Miss Clara Koch.

Thomas-Mower.

Cleveland L. Thomas and Miss Jennie Mower, both of No. 239 Catherine street, were united in marriage Christmas Day by the Rev. H. M. Lowber, pastor of St. Mark's A. M. E. Church on Foxhall avenue. They were attended by Abraham Anderson and Minnie Anderson.

19th Wedding Anniversary.

A large number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Slikworth of 219 Clifton avenue, on Friday, December 28th, to celebrate their nineteenth wedding anniversary, which was certainly appreciated by them. The home was decorated with fancy flowers and bolly. Games and dancing were in order during the evening. The main event was a piano duet by Mrs. Robert Brown and Myron Slikworth. About midnight the guests were ushered into a beautifully decorated dining room where a delicious supper awaited them. During the supper a number of toasts were given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. Slikworth. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Luedtke, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Feasel, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Slikworth, Paul J. Kaman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sleight, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Koog, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Neer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merrill, Miss Ella Slikworth, Master George Slikworth. All left in the early hours of the morning wishing Mr. and Mrs. Myron Slikworth many more happy and joyful anniversaries.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral services of Robert H. Amsbach will be held Sunday evening at 9 o'clock at his residence in Port Ewen. Burial will take place Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Trinity Lutheran Church cemetery, Brooklynn.

Harmon Russell died December 24, at the Kingston City Hospital. The funeral services were held at the Reformed Church in New Paltz at 2 p. m. on Thursday. He was born in Steuben county, February 17, 1864. He spent all his life there, engaged in farming and contracting until he came to New Paltz six years ago. He was the eldest son of Harrison Russell and Hulda Nicholson Russell. He is survived by his wife, Cora House Russell and one daughter, Dr. Ethel C. Russell of Philadelphia.

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, Dec. 29.—Thom Vlacavick has been putting quite an addition to his place.

Odds and Ends

The annual meeting and election of officers of Roundout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., will be held Monday evening.

100 CONSTANTLY IN WAITING FOR 1924 PLATES.

For three hours this morning, from 9 o'clock until noon, there was an average of 100 persons continuously in the Ulster county clerk's office applying for 1924 motor vehicle license plates and at times the applicants could not get into the office because of the crowd inside.

Many made their exit from the office, after receiving their plates, by the door on Fair street. Besides the personal applications, hundreds of applications are received by mail, which are taken care of in the evening after office hours and sent by parcel post.

WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Dec. 29.—At the fourth quarterly conference of the M. E. Church held on the evening of December 20, a unanimous request was presented to the Rev. Dr. Grington, for the return to this pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Quinn.

A petition to that effect was read by G. W. Elwyn. This petition had been signed by very many of the members of the church. Before the meeting adjourned, it was unanimously decided to raise the salary of Mr. Quinn, making the amount $1,500 per year instead of $1,200 which has been the salary up to now. The officials of the church wish to make public the appreciation they feel of the exceptionally fine work of Mr. Quinn since he has been on the charge, and also express their satisfaction at the prospect of having their pastor returned.

The Christmas tree for the M. E. Sunday school was given in the Methodist Church on the evening of Saturday, December 22. In spite of the inclement weather the tree was well attended and the fine musical program thoroughly enjoyed by all those who attended. Each Sunday school scholar received a suitable gift of candy and oranges. The officers of the school were also remembered. The Rev. Mr. Quinn, pastor of the church, among other gifts, received a purse of $50 from the congregation.

William Ryan has a new horse. John Condren's two daughters are home from Brooklyn school for their holiday vacation.

Emily Porter has returned home after spending some time with her sister at Eureka and relatives in Ellenville.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Moore had their children and grandchildren home for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Ryan of Currys, entertained nearly fifty of their relatives and friends Christmas night by having a tree and a fine lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon Donivan visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burch Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. John George and daughter took Christmas dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sheeley.

Theatrical Offerings.

Tonight's performances will close the vaudeville bill consisting of six acts at the Orpheum Theatre. The pictures are "The Buster," with Dustin Farnum, and "Under the Border," a western drama. The management announces that commencing Monday they will present first run Paramount pictures of 1924, such as William de Mille's production, "The Marriage Maker," Gloria Swanson in "Zaza," Paula Negri in "The Cheat," in conjunction with vaudeville.

At the Auditorium today Jack Hoxie in "Men in the Raw," from the magazine story by W. Bert Foster. A rip-roaring outdoor romance of red-blooded men, yellow gold and a true blue girl.

Reds Expelled.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Dec. 29.—The Bulgarian communist leader Harkloff and 32 Bulgarian students have been expelled from Vienna by the Austrian police on suspicion they were plotting to assassinate M. Stojiloff, the Bulgarian ambassador, said a Central News dispatch from Vienna this afternoon.

Pigeons Almost Human.

Homing pigeons probably are closer to the human family than any other form of winged life. The birds have remarkable intelligence. They mate in pairs, and the female of each union has exercised her right of suffrage to the extent that the male helps her in hatching out the eggs and in caring for and feeding the young. Night-hawks and whippoorwills work chiefly at night, when most birds are off duty, and at daybreak their work is taken up by the swifts and swallows. These birds are provided with big scapular mouths, and as they swing through the air over wide areas of country they scoop up almost unbelievable numbers of insects.

We Dare Say.

He was an argumentative local councillor, and was crushing an opponent's case. "Gentlemen," he said, "you may say, with Councilor Smith, that this is a case of six of one and half a dozen of the other. But I say, No—pause for emphasis—No; it is nothing of the sort. It is exactly the contrary."

These Preaching Times.

People who say it cannot be done are interrupted every day by somebody doing it.—From the Atchison Globe.

NEW FRAUD LIKE PIRATES' TALES

Texan Offered Backers Wealth When He Found Bandits' Loot in Mexico.

GOLD CACHED IN CAVE

Fort Worth, Tex.—A story which rivals one of those famous pirate stories of Robert Louis Stevenson, and that story of adventure of the Count of Monte Cristo, is the one used by William G. Lambert of this city to defraud through misuse of the United States mails, according to a complaint filed in Federal District court here by United States Attorney Henry Zweifel.

The complaint charges that Lambert wrote letters to one H. L. Brown, residing in West Virginia, and various other persons throughout the country, claiming to hold in his possession a secret source of information which would lead to the discovery of $5,000,000 in gold nuggets hidden in a cave in old Mexico which was placed there by two former members of Jesse James' gang who were fleeing from a gang of bandits.

It was further a part of Lambert's alleged scheme, the complaint said, to represent to the persons solicited that he was raising a fund for the purpose of recovering the treasure, guaranteeing that all who should aid him would be paid a 2,500 per cent dividend.

Text of Letters Sent to Victims.

Lambert's letter as set out in the complaint follows in part:

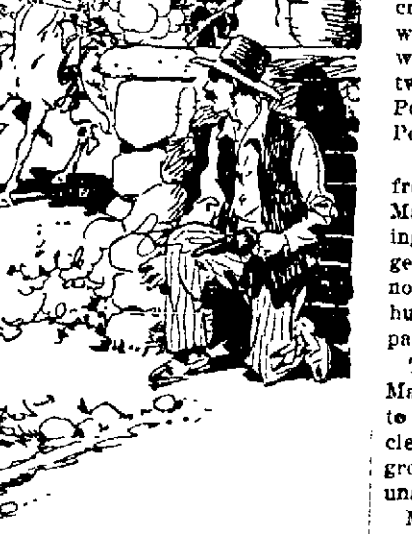

"October 6, 1923, to all who love adventure:

"And the pot of gold at the rainbow's end!"

"Now that Mexico has been officially recognized in full, the hazard has been reduced by half. It is so vastly different to anything you ever heard of before.

Indian Told Him the Secret.

"It is because an Indian is the chief factor in this instance, an old scout of frontier days, that I have such implicit confidence in success. Lockwood (the Indian) when fifteen years old served with the famous General

"The Ranch Was Raided."

Custer and, by the way, Lockwood is the only man who lives to tell us that General Custer was the first, not the last to fall in that historic massacre.

"Years ago there lived a man and his brother who were great admirers of the James boys. After the gang was rounded up, these young fellows found it wise to leave the country. They went to old Mexico and after some time married Indian girls. Years of successful trading made them immensely wealthy.

"From this point our story switches to the days of Villa and his gang. With his platform, he decided that the gringos should give up their properties first. A few years later the ranch of friends was raided. The ranchmen were spared because it was generally known that they had traded trinkets for gold nuggets and had hidden them away.

Gold Nuggets Hidden in Cave.

"Having decided that Mexico was not the right place for them to be and having acquired this large fortune, the ranchmen packed up and started for the border. A long night's travel brought them forty miles from the ranch. At daybreak shots were heard in the distance. One brother engaged in a heated battle with bandits. Believing there was little hope for him to escape, he selected a cave and hid the gold. All were killed but one of the wives and three young daughters, who are still alive to verify this story.

"I am not much at letter writing, but I have told you my story as I best could. A little more money is needed to finance this party. I have arranged so that your efforts may be rewarded with stupendous returns if you choose to contribute and appoint me to represent you. I promise to do so to the best of my skill.

The letter was signed "Faithfully yours, William L. Lambert, attorney."

How Shot Are Made.

Shot are made by running molten lead combined with a little arsenic through a sieve or by pouring it from a ladle with a serrated edge from a high tower into water at the bottom. The stream of metal breaks into strips which become spherical.

Town Gets "Stuck Up" After an Odd Accident

Morristown, O.—This town has been "all stuck up" as the result of an automobile accident. It happened after Emmet Rowley drove his wagon, on which he was hauling a barrel of sorghum molasses, into the path of a Pittsburgher's machine.

The automobile hit the wagon amidships, as the horse-drawn vehicle was driven onto Main street. The barrel of sorghum was tossed over the wagon rail and into the auto. The car, its occupants and the street were soon covered with the glue.

Spectators went to the aid of the automobile occupants and assisted them to a physician's office. The rescuers had difficulty in extricating themselves from the sorghum.

The real fun began, however, when efforts were made to move the wrecked automobile and wagon from the street. The sorghum by that time had covered the bricks and men staggered about as though drunk.

WAR AVIATOR KILLED AS HE GRASPS PROPELLER

French Veteran Attempts to Grab Blades When Plane Runs Amuck in Crowd.

Port Cadden, N. J.—Marcel Ruellan, veteran of the French war-time flying service, gave up his life before a thousand spectators here recently in stopping an airplane that had made a landing and threatened to plunge into the crowd after the pilot had been tossed out. Realizing that a disaster was imminent, Ruellan sprang straight at the whirling propeller, grasped it with both hands and sought by main strength to still the engine. But the powerful blades sliced out of his grip and one smashed his skull. He died instantly.

A mechanic of long experience in the war and later a familiar of the flying fields around Mineola, L. I., Ruellan had only arrived here in the morning with two companions to give a series of passenger flights. Word that he had given up his life for others was sent to his sister, Mme. Jaffray at 532 West 111th street, New York. His former wife and a child live in France.

The Farman plane was brought to Port Cadden, which is east of Phillipsburg and near Washington, N. J., by Marcel Mathias, understood to have been a French ace, his assistant pilot Morris A. Devore, and Ruellan. A big crowd had gathered when Mathias, who is said to have flown through the war without an accident, took off with two passengers, Oliver S. Moore of Portland, Pa., and Frank Felenzo of Port Cadden.

They circled the Roseberry farm from which they ascended and then Mathias glided down in an easy landing. But something in the landing gear gave way and the plane dug its nose into the ground with a jolt that hurled Mathias out and jerked the passengers off their seats.

The engine kept going, and before Mathias, only shaken, could scramble to his feet, it had shaken its nose clear and started wobbling over the ground, while people milled helplessly, unable to gauge its careening path.

Mathias shouted to Ruellan to stop the engine and without a second's hesitation the mechanic leaped. Probably it was fear that the slightest delay would allow the craft time to gain dangerous momentum that led him to dive at her nose rather than run around, reach into the cockpit and close the throttle. An instant later the horrified spectators saw his mutilated body borne away. But he had retarded the runaway plane long enough for Mathias to shut off the power.

Joe Dugan is hailed as Greatest Third Baseman

Joe Dugan, by his great work for the Yankees last season, and his showing in the world series, just about earned the right to be classed as the greatest third sacker in the game. National leaguers say that "Pie" Traynor of Pittsburgh is his only rival.

Wins "Harrier" Title

Prescott, Ariz.—A revival of the custom of trading in wives in the Purple Mountain Indian camp, 87 miles south of here, led to the killing recently of an Indian chief by a brave who refused to turn over a shotgun demanded in the sale of a squaw.

The chief was Zookie Eams, and his slayer Otto Mokahque, according to authorities. Eams offered to sell his squaw to Mokahque. It was alleged, demanding one horse, one saddle and one shotgun in payment. When the squaw went to Mokahque the latter gave Eams the horse and saddle, but refused to part with the shotgun, the police said. A quarrel followed and Mokahque killed Eams, according to the authorities. Mokahque was brought to Prescott.

Boars Leap to Death; Bodies Block Train

Paris.—The bodies of ten giant boars blocked the railway tracks of the Monte Carlo express near Marsettes.

During the night the boars climbed a cliff more than 300 feet high overlooking the tracks. The boar leader suddenly leaped from the cliff to death and then his nine faithful followers jumped after their chief. Workmen cleared the tracks and later staged a barbecue.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY OARSMEN START TRAINING EARLY

Oarsmen at Columbia university started training early this year for next season's contests. During cold weather they use indoor rowing apparatus. Photograph shows them on the first day's practice, with three crews in action.

Lucke Is Star Bowler

Leo C. Lucke, winner of the 1923 eastern individual bowling championship, who twice defeated Jimmie Smith, star bowler of Milwaukee, Wis., while the latter was on tour meeting all comers last season. A match is contemplated with Lucke and Glenn Riddell against Charley Trucks and Bill Knox, 1923 American bowling congress champion.

New York Furnishes Six Captains for Princeton

A study of the geographical distribution of the homes of captains of Princeton university's athletic teams brings to light the unusual fact that no less than six of the captains come from New York city, or from towns near New York.

Two of these men are captains of major sport teams. J. T. Prie, II, captain of this year's crew, comes from New York city, as does Harvey Emory, captain of the track team. Besides being captain of the track team, Emory is captain of the wrestling team, president of the senior class and president of the Varsity club, and is holding down a regular position as tackle on the orange and black football team.

Carl Moser, captain of swimming and national intercollegiate diving champion, is also from New York city. John Kless, basketball captain, and Kenneth Dittman, captain of lacrosse, are from Rockville Centre, L. I., and Scarsdale, N. Y., respectively.

Joe Dugan Is Hailed as Greatest Third Baseman

Joe Dugan, by his great work for the Yankees last season, and his showing in the world series, just about earned the right to be classed as the greatest third sacker in the game. National leaguers say that "Pie" Traynor of Pittsburgh is his only rival.

Wins "Harrier" Title

Harold R. Phelps, University of Iowa cross country star, won the individual championship of the western conference at Columbus, O. His time was 28 minutes 16 seconds and he will try out for the American Olympic team next spring in either the 5,000-meter run or the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

Fred Wachsmuth of the Glencoe A. C., New York, winner of the junior national cross country championship races of the A. A. U. at Fairmount park, near Philadelphia.

FAST ELEVEN TO BE FOUND IN BASEBALL

Easy Matter for Experts to Pick Star Aggregation.

Speaking about All-America football teams, it would be an easy matter for the experts to pick such an aggregation from the ball players who hold forth in the American league.

Dick Relche, now playing the outfield for the Boston Americans, was a star end at the University of Illinois.

The New York Yankees have three renowned footballers on the roster. Mike Gazella, who plays shortstop, was a star halfback at Lafayette. Outfielder Hunkie Haines was a sensation on the gridiron with Penn State. Outfielder Hendricks is a former Vanderbilt star.

Riggs Stephenson, who second sacks for Cleveland, was a star halfback at University of Alabama, one of the greatest players the south has ever turned out.

Shortstop Gagnon of Washington and Outfielder Bill Barrett of the White Sox starred in football at Holy Cross.

The White Sox have in Pitcher Castner one of the greatest backs ever produced in the West. He starred at Notre Dame and won much praise from Coach Rockne.

First Baseman Lou Gehrig of the Yankees was a featured player at Columbia and Bob Knobe of the Cleveland Indians played at Michigan. Experts who are really looking for an All-America football team can recruit it from Dan Johnson's league.

Iowa Star Is Winner

Pat Moran has signed a contract to continue as manager of the Cincinnati National league ball club. Moran's contract for 1924 is a duplicate of the 1923 agreement.

According to records, most of the greatest baseball players in the major leagues have been developed on college diamond or town lots, with no professional experience.

Pirpo sees where he made a mistake in his last fight and wants another chance at Dempsey, and no doubt he also has a vision of what even the loser's end of the purse would be.

William Haines, coach of the Harvard vacuity crew from 1915 to 1922, and a rowing instructor at Harvard, will coach the Massachusetts Institute of Technology crew next year.

Charles Pore, holder of the five-mile record, who retired from active competition last year, plans a comeback this winter. His first appearance will be at the Millrose A. A. games at New York.

Tennis teams from Harvard, Princeton, Yale and other American colleges will go to England next year to play a series of matches with Oxford, Cambridge and various British tennis clubs.

The average freshman student at the University of Pennsylvania weighs 64 pounds more than he did before the war. Thus all that is necessary to produce better football material is to have another war.

Emphasizing the Two-Piece Costume

By ELEANOR GUNN

As accustomed have we become to annual migration of society to northern climes, that we are prone to get more of a thrill in January seeing the stunning 'sports' which have originated at St. Louis than at those of Deauville.

Shop windows are given over to display of Southern resort wear, the exceptions being such as are dedicated to devotees of winter sports. For after all, January and February are not only months for participating in Southern resort life, and for the outdoor sports at Lake Placid, but there are sports at Lake Placid.

as against a sandy one. The deep V opening of the jacket gives an excellent excuse for adding a scarf, for without a scarf the world is lost for the girl who has any claim to smartness this season.

The suit to the right has a slightly fitted suggestion which is a reflection of the cloth suits which Paris is offering for spring. Pale rose and white in a mixture of silk and wool are combined with this and the definitely pointed jacket is at its smartest when worn with a topcoat in which case it has the effect of a smart gilet. Most sports suits are fated to be hidden under a topcoat, in fact the tendency is to treat the Quebec and other Northern resorts. Wool is, of course, the first consideration for sportswear, but suede and leather are interlopers in the land, and, of course, fur plays its accustomed role. For winter as well as summer sports, the present trend toward the two-piece costume, with the suit of prime importance, the frock which has a separate blouse and skirt section next.

Typical of what is liked in suits is one illustrated which is of a rust-colored brush wool with bands of blue, for strong colorings are as effective against a snowy background as against a sandy one.

modern suit much as one would wear it a dress, adding a topcoat when extra warmth is needed.

Establishments specializing in custom-made things report that orders for sports clothes, especially for suits and two-piece dresses with lingerie collar and cuff sets, the collars in wide and narrow effects and the cuffs in wristband, gauntlet or full undersleeves to be worn with elbow and three-quarter lengths. There are more plain and pleated mulls and batistes than lace trimmed or embroidered and more white than ecru and tinted.

BLOCK AND CRANE AT BUDGET TALK

City Budget as Prepared Fixes Tax Rate at $33.70 Per Thousand Valuation—Increase Due to Higher State and County Taxes—Few Attend Hearing.

Mayor Walter P. Crane presided at the public hearing on the city budget Friday evening at the city hall which was attended by but a handful of people. If the budget as prepared is adopted it fixes the tax rate for 1924 at $33.70 per thousand valuation.

While the city tax rate is $1.75 per thousand lower than last year's rate there is an increase of $1.93 per thousand in the state and county tax and about $1 per thousand in the nation bank stock tax, which makes the general city tax for all purposes about $1.18 per thousand higher than last year's rate.

Mayor-elect Morris Block was the only one present at the hearing who asked any questions regarding the items in the proposed budget. He stated that he believed each city department should receive a large enough appropriation so that it would not be necessary to issue notes. He was particularly interested in the budget of the board of public works and as to how it compared with that of last year.

At the last meeting of the board of public works a resolution was adopted authorizing the street committee to purchase a new White truck for the street department. Mr. Block believed that the purchase price should be included in the present budget.

As the budget is not adopted until next year and as the board of public works meets the first day of the year this amount can be added at that time if Mayor-elect Block desires.

Among the others present at the hearing were Aldermen Dittus, Martin and Belcher, Chairman James J. Murphy of the Democratic city committee, and Corporation Counsel Walter N. Gill.

Mayor Crane assured Mayor-elect Block that the board of public works in making up its budget worked along the lines that there was no change in the administration, and it had asked for a large enough appropriation to carry on the work of 1924.

City Clerk Doremus read the various items that made up the proposed budget and compared them with last year's budget, and they were practically the same.

The hearing started at 8 o'clock and at 8:30 o'clock Mayor Crane closed it when no one else present desired to ask any questions regarding the proposed budget.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Dec. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. George Monroë and children and Miss Hattie Snyder of Newburgh, spent last Sunday at the home of Thomas Snyder.

Roy Ghear and family of New York spent the holiday vacation at the home of his mother, Mrs. Frank Ghear.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Brodhead and daughter, Miss Alta Brodhead, took Christmas dinner with Mrs. Martha Sheeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevens and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Duym on Christmas Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis and two sons of Kingston, spent the Christmas holiday with John Ayers.

Mrs. Toombs, who has been visiting her grandchildren for some time at Frank Stevens', returned to her home on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams spent Christmas with relatives out of town.

The Christmas exercises held in the Reformed Church on Christmas

Eve was attended by a large audience. The room was beautifully decorated with green and red and a fine Christmas tree from which Santa Claus distributed many gifts to the children and older folks as well. Songs and recitations and selections by the choir were all well rendered, and it proved to be a real Christmas Eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer, Joseph and Daniel Joseph of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. James Joseph and son, James R. Joseph, of Haines Falls, were guests of their mother, Mrs. Katherine Joseph, on Christmas Day.

Mrs. Martha Sheeley and nieces, Ruth and Betty Dumond, are spending a few days with friends at The Clove this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevens and son Howard, have gone to Connecticut, where they will spend New Year's with relatives.

Anna Sepasy and friend of Kingston, spent Christmas with her mother.

The more virtuous any man is, the less easily he suspects others to be vicious.

Hugo's Precocity.

Victor Hugo, the celebrated French writer, wrote his first tragedy, "Hernani," when he was only fourteen years old; and when only seventeen he founded a fortnightly review called "The Literary Conservative." The promise of literary greatness which Hugo gave as a youth was entirely fulfilled as he grew older and took first rank among his contemporaries.

PLAYER DEALS IN THE MAKING

Many Clubs Are Working Hard to Patch Up Weak Spots Before Training Season Starts.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Dec. 29.—Although trade winds at present are almost static, so to speak, quite some few player deals in the National and American leagues are in the process of making, according to baseball men who watch the mark as the fisherman watches the cork. Our Mr. McGraw, for example, is willing to wait three or four of his alleged pitchers elsewhere for a live one who can win a few ball games. He is also after a catcher and infielder.

Across the bridge, Robbie, of the Dodgers, also would esteem a catcher and infielder very highly, to say nothing of several outfielders, base runners, hitters, run scorers and what not. The infielder may be Rabbit Maranville, the non-refillable short stop, of whom the Pittsburgh Pirates have frankly tired.

It is also intimated that the Sox and Yankees may get together subsequently on a deal of sorts, the nature of which is not revealed. The local club had abandoned hope of getting Eddie Collins, except on terms deemed to be prohibitive. Therefore a new shuffle is said to be over the possible acquisition of Outfielder Elsh.

Hornsbly, of course, has been whisked off the auction block, but, fevered denials to the contrary, Branch Rickey would be reconciled to the sad parting under appropriate auspices. These probably would include the passing over of two infielders, four pitchers, an outfielder and the right to steal. Hornsbly will remain in St. Louis, sanity being a requisite of National League managers.

Down in Washington, it is understood that Clark Griffith would lend an attentive ear to proposals on Judge and Rice, if any. At one time this pair would have brought half a ball club in the open market but the years have left their tarnish on the gold. At that, it is said that a deal of some kind is cooking between the Senators and Red Sox with George Burns the focal point.

The Cubs would part gladly with Charley Hollocher, a great infielder who forsake the club in mid-season because of illness, real or fabled. The tip has gone out that Hollocher actually is a sick man and the desire for his services is neither arid nor desired. There maybe a Hollocher deal later, however.

Meantime, Ty Cobb is paving hastily over the list of available second basemen but finds none. He was supposed to be on the trail of Jimmy Dykes, one of the Athletics, but it is understood that Connie Mack smiled a very superior smile and strolled away from there.

It was reported, also, that Cobb wanted Bill Wambaus, of the Indians, and was ready to pay the price in place, but nothing came of it.

Soft Drinks in U. S.

Each year thirty Americans consume 4,000,000,000 bottles of soft drinks, and this total does not include beverages such as beer made from cereals. These drinks come from 10,000 bottling establishments and over 110,000 soda counters. The skilled chemist has provided a host of flavors which the consumer cannot distinguish from the original. The aroma as well as the color and flavor of fruits is being imitated. These beverages contain nothing dangerous to health, but the food and drugs act demands that such products be labeled what they are.

Stress and Strain.

There is much confusion among writers as to the definitions of the terms stress and strain. An external force applied to a body, so as to pull it apart, is resisted by an internal force or resistance, and the action of these forces causes a displacement of the molecules or deformation. By some the external force is called stress and the internal force, strain. By others the names are reversed. This confusion of terms is not important, as the words are commonly used synonymously.

How Sects Grow.

Probably many religious sects rest on just as trivial differences in belief. Two men, prominent in church work, were traveling through a sparsely settled community when they noticed two churches immediately opposite each other. Stopping a native they inquired why there were two churches for so few people. "Well, it's like this," he replied. "The church members on the right believe that Eve tempted Adam, the ones on the left believe that Adam was a rebel from the beginning."—Columbus Dispatch.

New Oyster Beds.

Twenty miles of oyster beds in the Gulf of Mannar, between Ceylon and the southernmost coast of India, have been discovered. The beds are still young and the earliest date of maturity is 1926. The only other pearl fisheries of any importance in India at present are along the extreme southern coast and the Mergui Islands, off southern Burma. These latter are exploited by Japanese divers and the production enters only slightly into Burmese exports.

Bottle's Long Voyage.

A bottle cast into the sea at Waikiki beach, Honolulu, January 1, 1900, recently washed ashore at Huehene, Ventura county, California. In the tightly sealed bottle was found a note signed by an Iowa man in which he asks to be notified, so that the movement of the tides of the Pacific ocean, as indicated by the bottle's journey, may be made the basis of data for the American Society of Aquatic Research.

FOOTBALL COACHES IN ANNUAL CONVENTION.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 29.—Football mentors from all sections of the United States today gathered here for the annual meeting of the American Association of Coaches. Their convention came on the heels of the N. C. A. A. convention which closed last night.

Delegates to that convention side-stepped the famous Charles Paddock controversy when they passed a non-committal resolution stating that they recognized authority of the American Athletic Union to regulate actions of its own members. Paddock, world's champion sprinter, was declared ineligible to enter the next Olympics by the Amateur Athletic Union.

The morning session of the coaches today was devoted to discussion of official rules and a few minor changes were proposed.

Fielding Yock, athletic director of the University of Michigan, was to deliver the first address this afternoon on "Use of the Telephone During Progress of the Game" and "Sportmanship of Player and Spectator."

Knute Rockne of Notre Dame was to discuss "the forward pass." H. S. Hathaway, director of athletics in New York University, was to speak on "Salaries of Coaches."

The coaches were scheduled to finish the day with a banquet at a local hotel tonight.

More Ghosts.
None of the things that conscience hatched up are more ghastly.

Shrewdness Sometimes Reticent.
Let the "Intelligentist" realize that millions of people are not as dull as their ordinary conversation sounds. Shrewdness isn't always expressing itself.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Just So.
Jud. Tunkins says that a man who loses a hundred thousand dollars in a horse race generally isn't as honest-to-goodness unlucky as the one who couldn't afford to bet but two.
